WELLNESS WORKSHEET 27
Recognizing Signs of Depression and Bipolar Disorder

You should get evaluated by a professional if you’ve had five or more of the following symptoms for more than 2 weeks or if any of these symptoms cause such a big change that you can’t keep up your usual routine.

When You’re Depressed:

___ You feel sad or cry a lot, and it doesn’t go away.
___ You feel guilty for no reason; you feel you’re no good; you’ve lost your confidence.
___ Life seems meaningless, or you think nothing good is ever going to happen again.
___ You have a negative attitude a lot of the time, or it seems as if you have no feelings.
___ You don’t feel like doing a lot of the things you used to like—music, sports, being with friends, going out, and so on—and you want to be left alone most of the time.
___ It’s hard to make up your mind. You forget lots of things, and it’s hard to concentrate.
___ You get irritated often. Little things make you lose your temper; you overreact.
___ Your sleep pattern changes. You start sleeping a lot more or you have trouble falling asleep at night; or you wake up really early most mornings and can’t get back to sleep.
___ Your eating pattern changes. You’ve lost your appetite or you eat a lot more.
___ You feel restless and tired most of the time.
___ You think about death or feel as if you’re dying or have thoughts about committing suicide.

When You’re Manic:

___ You feel high as a kite . . . like you’re “on top of the world.”
___ You get unrealistic ideas about the great things you can do . . . things that you really can’t do.
___ Thoughts go racing through your head, you jump from one subject to another, and you talk a lot.
___ You’re a nonstop party, constantly running around.
___ You do too many wild or risky things—with driving, with spending money, with sex, and so on.
___ You’re so “up” that you don’t need much sleep.
___ You’re rebellious or irritable and can’t get along at home or school or with your friends.

If you are concerned about depression in yourself or a friend, or if you are thinking about hurting or killing yourself, talk to someone about it and get help immediately. There are many sources of help: a good friend; an academic or resident adviser; the staff at the student health or counseling center; a professor, coach, or adviser; a local suicide or emergency hotline (get the phone number from the operator or directory) or the 911 operator; or a hospital emergency room.
